

YOUNG ARTISTS MENTORSHIP LAB

Sameksha is hosting a focused portfolio review and mentoring session for young artists alongside India Art Fair 2026, creating a space for close interaction with leading practitioners and curators in Delhi. Designed for artists practising for at least the last three years, the session emphasises guidance, critical feedback, and career direction at a pivotal moment in the art calendar. Hosted at the IILM campus on Lodhi Road, it taps into the large community of young and emerging artists who gather around the fair each year.

Format and Eligibility

Format: Booth-style portfolio review with short, focused one-to-one or small group conversations, allowing artists to present work, ask questions, and receive critical and career-oriented feedback.

Eligibility: Young artists who have been actively practising for at least the last three years.

Selection: Participants will be chosen from applicants responding to an online/social media call, due to limited review time with each advisor.

Interaction time: Each artist will get 15 minutes with one of the mentors.

Advisors / Reviewers

The session brings together established practitioners and curators with deep experience in contemporary Indian and public art:

Shanthamani Muddaiah

Bengaluru-based sculptor and installation artist known for large-scale charcoal and public artworks, including major commissions at Kempegowda International Airport.

Arunkumar HG

Contemporary artist recognised for socially and environmentally engaged practice in India. He has presented solo exhibitions at Nature Morte and Gallery Espace, and exhibited internationally, including in New York.

Kavita Nayar

Senior printmaker and painter with a long exhibition record across India. Recipient of fellowships and residencies from the Ministry of Culture, Lalit Kala Akademi, and institutional collections worldwide.

Chetnaa

Contemporary visual artist whose work has been exhibited at the India Art Fair and NGMA. She is a recipient of the Glenfiddich Emerging Artist of the Year award and the AIFACS All India Drawing Award.

Yamini Telkar

Curator and arts professional with experience helming art programmes and collections, including projects at Bengaluru's international airport and as co-founder of an art advisory.
